Visual Impact

Blue and White tiles create an illusion of transparency from the side view of the work. The wider end of the structure provides a stone bench looking out across Willow Lake.

Water will run of the roof through a special spout and on rainy days it will collect in a shallow bowl set into the ground taking the water away via a discrete underground land drain

Scale

Maximum height 2.8m, maximum length 5.91m plus rain bowl 1.91m long, widest point 2.18m
